

Oklahoma School of Science and Mathematics

Immediate Release

For More Information Contact:
Liz Heigle Director of Public Information
405.522.7806, liz.heigle@ossm.edu

OKLAHOMA CITY – July 18, 2018 – The Oklahoma School of Science and Mathematics (OSSM) officially name Dr. Janet Neufeld as their new Vice President of Academics. Dr. Neufeld began on July 15, 2018.

Ms. Neufeld was most recently the superintendent of the Pawhuska Public Schools in Pawhuska, Oklahoma. She has also served as superintendent of Twin Valley Unified School District in Bennington, Kansas. Previously, she was an Academic Manager and High School Principal of Clark County School District, one of the largest school districts in the United States with an enrollment of 320,000 students.

Dr. Neufeld has a Doctor of Education from Kansas State University in Educational Leadership and a Masters of Education from Wichita State University in Secondary Guidance Counseling and a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Art and History Education from Bethel College in North Newton, Kansas.

“We are excited that Dr. Neufeld will be the new VP of Academics at OSSM,” said President, Dr. Frank Wang. “Throughout this process of reviewing applications and interviewing candidates, Dr. Neufeld rose to the top demonstrating her professionalism, creativity and ability to collaborate and work well with others.”

“I am very honored to have been chosen for this position,” said Ms. Nuefeld. “OSSM is an outstanding school and I look forward to being a part of a top STEM high school.”

For more information about OSSM, visit the school’s website at www.ossm.edu.

###